

Summer Interns

The CHPC 2014 Summer Interns have arrived!!! (see bios in the next column) They have started their summer off by being challenged with a week of intense training. Hopefully equipping them both spiritually and practically for the expectations of the summer children's ministry. The interns worked closely with the interns from Christ's Community, learning, roll playing and fellowshiping. The Interns will be hard at work planning and executing fun and exciting Sunday school lessons while using the Big City Studios curriculum once again. They will be studying Abraham, the man of faith. They are also responsible for planning TWEENS night all summer long. Finally, but certainly not least, they will be helping with CAMP. There are some very exciting things in the works; it is going to be a very fun summer.

Christ's Community in College Hill Summer Camp

Christ's Community in College Hill is made up of 10 churches around College Hill working together to build into and meet the needs of our community. This year Christ's Community is partnering with Pleasant Hill Academy to run their 6 week summer day camp program. They will be working with 75 campers in grades 1-6, focusing on reading, art, music, recreation, and the Bible.

Tim Walker, the resource coordinator at Pleasant Hill Academy, is this year's camp director, and has hired an incredible group of leaders for the camp. His staff is comprised of 6 classroom counselors, one for each grade, 6 high school student assistants for each classroom, and 3 specialists leading music, art and recreation. God has brought together an incredibly gifted and diverse group of people to share the love of Jesus with these children this summer.

Katy Verhagen graduated from high school a year ago and has spent the past year teaching swimming at the local YMCA and waitressing at Skyline Chili. She plans on spending this coming school year as a nanny for a missionary family in Western Africa. This summer, she is especially psyched to spend time on the playground with the children she'll be serving, swimming in the lake at camp, hopefully eating plenty of cheesecake.

Rachel Koize will be a freshman at Purdue University this fall, and plans to major in either chemical or mechanical engineering. She has numerous quirky obsessions with indie music, British television shows, tea, making friendship bracelets, and reading (especially cool old Latin manuscripts). This summer, she hopes to strengthen her relationships with the children she grew to know last year as a camp counselor, while embracing the philosophy "work hard, play hard".

Hannah Gallardo is a student at Cedarville University, where she has just completed her first year. She is currently undeclared, but she is considering a career in education. When she is not trying to figure out her future career, she enjoys photography, the works of C.S. Lewis and Ray Bradbury, superhero movies, the outdoors, and brownies. This summer, Hannah looks forward to the unique joys and challenges of working in youth ministry, and she anticipates the ways that God will use this ministry to touch hearts and make impacts for eternity.

Joy Grace Chen has just finished her sophomore year studying creative writing at the University of Evansville. She loves history, poetry, old books, and interminable reading lists. Studying abroad in England this past semester has also deepened her appreciation for Earl Grey tea, travel, and British television shows. As a second year intern, Joy Grace looks forward to building on relationships started last year and spending another fun-filled summer sharing the love of Jesus with kids!

Justin Wilson will be a senior at the Virginia Military Institute and, upon completing his degree in History, will commission into the U.S. Army as a Military Intelligence Officer. His interests include working on his car, running, and spending time with his family. He is looking forward to witnessing and helping the youth of the community grow in Christ.
